

Your Flame

With all my heart I always believed in you
And as you see up to now I was right
You made your way into the brightest daylight
Fighting the evil in the darkest nights

Life forces us to make lots of decisions
And sometimes we really do not know
If we are wrong or if we do the right thing
Sometimes we'll fade and some other time we'll glow

You are the one
You can make your dreams come true
Just take your chance
Life is always up to you

This song is for you
It shall help you along
When you feel weak
It shall make you feel strong

I know it's easy to write down worldly wisdoms
And the reason why I do it all the same
Is just to let you know that someone's by your side
There's someone here who's guarding your flame

Let your flame spread across the lands
Keep it burning bright and strong
You ought to know your flame is very special
And that is why I sing this little song

You are the one
You can make your dreams come true
Just take your chance
Life is always up to you

This song is for you
It shall help you along
When you feel weak
It shall make you feel strong
